BMC Peak Area hill walking volunteers have devised a hill walk right at the northern tip of the Peak District that also includes a bit of West Yorkshire and even dips a toe into Lancashire. It's a 12.5 mile walk (with a shorter 10 mile option) scheduled for Sunday 29th September and starts from Marsden (in West Yorkshire) taking in Pule Hill, Redbrook Reservoir (which is in the Peak District), Standedge, (crossing briefly over into Lancashire for) White Hill and back to Marsden. North West Area and Yorkshire Area members are also being invited. More details can be found on the BMC Local Areas site: community.thebmc.co.uk/Event.aspx?id=4125. There'll be more on our Area Facebook page nearer the time too. Do come!
